The discovery of a child's brain or spinal cord tumor is shattering for families. It can happen at any time, to any child, at any age. Lives are forever changed in that moment. Visits to the hospital can be scary and disruptive. Both the disease and its treatment can have long-lasting physical, psychological, and cognitive effects. Parents feel powerless, siblings may struggle, and family relations may be strained. At that critical time, and for years to come, Making Headway Foundation's mission is to provide Care, Comfort, & a Cure to each of these families.

For over twenty years, Making Headway has addressed the full spectrum of what children and their families in this situation face. Our programs provide the support and resources families need, from the moment of diagnosis through the months and years that follow. From friendly faces and comforting activities in the hospital, to ongoing emotional and psychological support, educational guidance and advocacy—Making Headway's trained professionals are there. Our hospital programs provide both highly technical medical resources and neuro-psychological expertise, as well as gentle care through art and integrative therapies. Nobody else does what Making Headway does.

Our mission has been supported by generous families like yours. We have been able to expand into new communities to assist more families in need, providing more one-of-kind programs than ever before. And because truly, no family should have to go through this in the first place, we fund cutting-edge medical research that may one day put an end to this devastating childhood disease.

Because of supporters like you, Making Headway Foundation has been able to help thousands of children, parents, and siblings impacted by a childhood brain and spinal cord tumor. In 2020, we need your donations more than ever. Thank you for making the gifts that keep us Making Headway.
With the arc of an arm, the point of a toe or the twist of a torso, America’s Got Talent finalists CATAPULT stretch their bodies (and your imaginations!) in MAGIC SHADOWS. See Vivaldi’s Four Seasons spring to life, follow a camel across the Sahara and spy a giant panda snacking on bamboo. Animated by the dancers’ shadows, every cinematic scene is a kaleidoscope of colorful storytelling that will awe and astound you.
